July 29, 2015..... Mariposa CA .....The County of Mariposa is kicking off a comprehensive transportation planning study focused on the Historic Town of Mariposa.

The purpose of the study, entitled “Mariposa Connections”, is to identify one or more sites and related improvements that will accommodate improved off-street parking and facilities to support transit and tour operations, automobile, and non-motorized travel. The study will identify ways to improve access and mobility and will foster economic development through enhancements that support visitors to the community.

“We need the community’s thoughts and ideas to ensure the best possible project for our community.” says Kevin Cann, District IV Supervisor. “Bringing together business, tourism, arts, historic preservation, education and the community at-large will result in solutions that will truly serve the downtown Historic District and all of Mariposa.”

The project is funded by a Transit Planning Grant from the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans).
